Additional Information:

Meet Winchester's new workhorse, the XPR. Huge strides have been made in metallurgy, materials and manufacturing processes since Winchester last introduced a new bolt action rifle over a half century ago. Winchester engineers took advantage of those advances in the design of the XPR. This all new rifle is tough as nails, with the accuracy to meet the performance expectations of the most demanding hunter. It has a button rifled free floating barrel. The MOA trigger system is set at 3.5 lbs for a light, clean pull with a crisp break. This is a feature-packed, no-nonsense game getter that will put meat on the table for years to come.

The XPR SR (Suppressor Ready) edition has a threaded muzzle for use with your suppressor.
